SEE N.H. SUSPECT, GIRL IN NEWTON

Grief's Broadcast—Showing the anguish she feels, Mrs. Mabel Roache, 21, of Roxbury, is comforted by her husband as she broadcasts a plea that their daughter, Betty, 4, be returned to her. The child and her cousin, Billy Bowles, 6, disappeared Saturday. Today, police are checking kidnap clues, searching Muddy river. STORY ON PAGE 2

Victim . . . or Dupe?—As police combed New England for John Howland, 26, in the murder of Maud Horne, aged and wealthy spinster of Milton, fears were expressed for 15-year-old Alda Butler, who at first was believed to have elopped with him, now thought a possible second victim.

Mother Sobs in Radio Plea for Return of Lost Roxbury Child

Steadfast in the belief that her child still lives, Mrs. Mabel Roache, 21, mother of one of two children missing since Friday from their Roxbury homes, mades a pathetic radio appeal today for return of the child—a four-year-old daughter.

Supported by her young husband, the mother, her eyes filled with tragedy, made her appeal over the microphone in the Bradford hotel studios of Station WBZ.

"I wish," she said, faltered a little, gained strength, and went on:

"I wish if the person is listening who has my Betty he would have mercy on a mother and return her to me. I will forgive anything——"

She faltered again; then:

"Oh, all I want is my baby back . . ."

MOTHER IN COLLAPSE

When the broadcast, arranged for her by the Boston Evening American and conducted by this newspaper's radio editor, Newcomb F. Thompson, was ended, the young mother collapsed and had to be helped from the studio.

She was returned to her home to again take up the vigil of waiting for news—any news.

The missing children are William Bowles, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bowles, Sr., of Whittier st., and Betty Roche, 4, his cousin.

Since they vanished police have been seeking their bodies in the Muddy river in the Fenway.

Before going on the air, Mrs. Roache discussed the possible fate of her little one, saying:

"I don't—I can't believe that Betty is in Muddy river. I think the children were taken away by some man—maybe a maniac.

Wm. Bowles Eliz. Roache

STILL HOLD HOPES

"But, somehow, even that is better than death. Where there is life, we still can hope. We could do something for them, even if they were injured. I can't make myself believe she is dead."

Mrs. Mary Bowles, mother of the

DIVER FRED WALLACE SEEKS CHILDREN'S BODIES IN MUDDY RIVER

Plan Draining of Muddy River in Lost Child Hunt

Police planned today to drain the Muddy river completely if dragging fails to locate the bodies of Billy Bowles, 6, and Betty Roache, 4, missing from their Roxbury homes since last Friday.

Superintendent of Police Fallon, who assumed personal charge of the dragging operations, said he would ask the Metropolitan District Commission to drain the stream.

In the meantime every other effort possible was being made to locate the missing children.

Their descriptions were broadcast and sent over police teletypes. Every policeman in Greater Boston was ordered to watch for them.

Boy Scouts have joined the search, too, and were looking through areas in the vicinity of the children's homes.

Various rumors and reports stirred new police activity during the day.

One was to the effect that gypsies had been in the neighborhood Friday, and another was that the children were seen talking to a strange man.

Captain Thomas F. Casey, of Roxbury Crossing station, had squads out searching vacant buildings and cellars

LIQUOR LICENSE SCANDAL GROWS WITH NEW QUIZ

Boston's liquor license scandal, already resulting in suspension of one employe of the Licensing Board, may extend into other departments of the city, it was indicated today by Assistant District Attorney Frederick T. Doyle.

The assistant prosecutor, disclosing that a Roxbury man has been under suspension from the Licensing Board since January 21, said that he believes more than one person was involved.

Two accountants have been ordered by him, Doyle said, to check books on liquor license fees, both in the licensing board and in the city collector's office.

A significant feature of the investigation developed today was that the man under suspension, a married man of previous good reputation who never had the appearance of possessing much money, is the person chiefly under a cloud at present in the vanishing of at least $2500.

SEEKING LICENSE FEE

It was even revealed by one fellow employe of the man under suspension that the latter has owed him $1.50 for nearly a month.

Also it was revealed that one Roxbury Crossing cafe owner, innocent victim of the alleged frauds, is even now scurrying around for $1200 to cover his 1939 license.

This cafe owner was called to the city collector's office last Wednesday and was asked to produce his receipts on license fee payments for 1938 and 1939.

He found his receipt for the 1939 fee but was unable to locate that for the 1938 fee. Then, it was learned, he was told the $1200 paid for the 1939 fee would be applied to the 1938 "deficiency" and he must raise the money for a new 1939 payment.

Trace N. H. Killer Suspect and Girl Cousin to Newton

Search for John Howland, 26, alias Jim Yancey, charged with the murder of Miss Maude Horne, 61, Milton, N. H., spinster heiress, was concentrated in Greater Boston today after he had been reported seen in Newton.

G-men and police intensified their search in this section for the one-time sailor and jack-of-all-trades after Michael Lyons, a Newton High school janitor, reported the fugitive had asked him for directions to Lexington.

HUNTED as suspect in slaying of Miss Maude Horne of Milton, N. H., is John Howland, believed to have eloped with his cousin, Alda Butler, 15, for whose safety her relatives and police are apprehensive.

MISS MAUDE HORNE
Brutally Slain

Lyons told police the young man was accompanied by a young girl, and that he was driving a black automobile in which were several blankets.

Howland is believed to be accompanied by his cousin, Alda Butler, 15, who disappeared from her Milton, N. H., home at about the same time he disappeared.

G-men and police were striving desperately to reach the girl after expressing fears for her safety.

Authorities said they were as much concerned in saving the Butler girl from harm as they were in capturing young Howland, whom the F. B. I. identified as a parolee from Ohio State Prison with a long record.

The missing girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Butler, who have 12 other children, issued an appeal to her to break away from Howland and return home.

G-Men Aid Hunt For Slayer Suspect

MILTON, N. H., Feb. 6—Fearful that the life of a pretty 15-year-old schoolgirl hangs in the balance, G-men and police throughout the East today plunged into the search for John Howland, 26, boasting barber, accused in the "legacy murder" of 61-year-old Maude Horne.

The girl, Alda Butler, disappeared at the same time as Howland. The aged spinster's body, brutally beaten and gagged, was found soon after in her recently-inherited home.

Police charge the elderly victim met death on her refusal to supply elopement cash. Emptied pocketbooks and the ransacked house mutely told the motive.

SEES CHILD IN PERIL

Fifteen-year-old Alda and Howland sat talking with Miss Horne shortly before she was beaten and robbed. That is why the child's family, as well as police, believe she is in danger of a similar fate.

"My daughter is an innocent child, and she must be found before it is too late," Edward T. Butler, father of 12 other children, said to authorities.

"I can't believe she would go away willingly. Jack is her cousin, and I can't see how there was anything between them. She's so young. But they've both disappeared, and I feel she is in danger."

Search extended as far as Virginia, toward which Howland is believed bound with the girl, a car stolen from the victim and a machine gun.

Once he lived in Virginia and several witnesses volunteered that within a week he boasted that he was going back to a "country he loved."

Belief that Howland carries a

NEIGHBOR of the slain Miss Maude Horne, Mrs. Charlotte Garyait of Milton, N. H., told police that John Howland had called on the victim the night of the murder.

Wage Chief's Son Returns to Home

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—Surprised that his absence had caused concern, William Andrews, 18, son of wage-hour Administrator Elmer Andrews, was back home today.

William, a student at University of Pennsylvania, became the object of a week-long search when reported "missing" last Monday.

The youth said he had been visiting friends and job-hunting.

Loretta Young Is Witness in Buckner Trial

NEW YORK, Feb. 6 (INS)—Facing 27 years in prison and fines amounting to $20,000 if convicted, handsome William F. Buckner, Jr., friend of Hollywood stars, with beauteous Loretta Young topping the list, goes on trial in federal court today on six indictments—charging mail fraud.

LORETTA YOUNG

Less in the spotlight but named equally in the indictments handed out last December 30, William J. Gillespie, Brooklyn broker, goes on trial with him.

They are charged with having defrauded investors of more than $1,000,000 by the manipulation of bonds of the Philippine Railway Company. Miss Young is among the witnesses called.

SAVE BABY, MOTHER IN 3-HR. FIGHT

BANGOR, Feb. 6—In a three-hour tug-o'-war with death two Bangor firemen won today and Mrs. Madeline Shaw, 24, and her new-born son are alive.

Summoned to the Shaw home by Dr. I. Francis Gregory after mother and child sank into a profound coma after the birth, the firemen came at top speed, carrying the inhalator.

Capt. Charles Clark and Fireman Frank Burrill went to work with the apparatus.

Minutes dragged into hours without apparent results. The two men worked on and on, tirelessly, hoping against hope.

At last, after three hours, life came again to both, they breathed, blood circulated.

Dr. Gregory in his report today gave complete credit to the two men.

Texas Quads To Go on Bottle

GALVESTON, Tex., Feb. 6 (AP)—Dr. Francis Garbade cocked an ear toward the Badgett quadruplets, heard lusty yelling and opined they'll become bottle babies very soon.

Since their birth Feb. 1 the girls have been fed by medicine dropper. But Dr. Garbade is so pleased with their good health—and their greedy appetites—he has ordered eight new bottles, enough for two shifts, prepared for their use.

WALTHAM FOUNDLING WINS HEARTS OF HOSPITAL FOLK

Many Want Child Left in Auto

Although a Waltham foundling still went unwanted by his parents today, a flood of calls from those seeking to be his foster-parents kept authorities busy out at the Waltham Baby Hospital.

But the answer was "no" and still is "no" as officials wait patiently for his own father and mother to claim him.

The baby, found Saturday in a Waltham garage, has been named "Buddy" by adoring nurses. He is about one month old.

TAXI STAND 'PLOT' IS LAID TO POLICE BY INDEPENDENTS

Already police are aiming toward nullification of the voters' mandate for public cab stands in Boston, it was charged today by independent taxi drivers as they gathered for a public hearing at police headquarters.

Charges were freely made in the corridors that police were prepared to cut down the capacity of the present private stands as soon as they are opened to all cabs.

MRS. HARRY BIJUR

Meanwhile, the cabs of "monopoly companies" which heretofore have had the private stands at many hotels, clubs and railroad terminals, will be "on call" a short distance away, to be summoned by signal, according to the independents' charges.

Some hotels, it is charged, have already made "working agreements" with operators of nearby parking lots, and cabs previously favored on private stands will be on signal call here from the hotels.

And at one railroad terminal, it is alleged, the favored cabs will even be allowed to be parked on railroad property, and signs will direct travelers to these cabs.

Fortified with an official opinion he expected to have from Attorney General Dever, Police Commissioner Timilty prepared for the hearing.

Lives in Peril For Kindness

NEW YORK, Feb. 6 (AP)—Death threats against Mrs. Harry Bijur, who for three months has fed the families of 26 striking employes of the fashionable apartment house in which she is a tenant, were investigated today by police of two states.

Mrs. Bijur, wife of an attorney, said a letter Friday warned her to cease supporting the pickets.

The same day, she told police, she received a phone call from an unidentified man who said her body and those of her two sons would be "found in the furnace" if she continued aiding the strikers who walked out after demanding higher wages and have been replaced by members of a rival AFL union.

Ryan Bijur

Mrs. Bijur disclosed Connecticut police failed to trap a person who sent a fraudulent telegram to her son, Ryan, 15, at a prep school in Cheshire.

The telegram said Mrs. Bijur was dead and the boy's father injured and was signed "Nora," the name of the Bijurs' maid.

Arthur N. Sheriff, head master of Cheshire academy, said G-men had been called.

Holliston Wife Amnesia Victim

Despite visits by her husband and father, Mrs. Dorothy Mahan Perkins, 21, of Holliston, mother of three children, was still suffering from amnesia at Hartford, Ct., city hospital today.

The search for Mrs. Perkins, who disappeared from her home November 26, ended Saturday when she was identified by William H. Mahan, of Holliston, her father, who went to Hartford after a relative, recognized a picture of the woman in a newspaper.

Following the visit of her husband and father, the woman said "They must be my people, they are so kind."

She was unable to shake the veil surrounding her memory, however.

2 Slain; Tape Seal Left by Gangsters

NEW YORK, Feb. 6 (INS) — Gangland sealed the lips of two men today with a hail of bullets poured into their bodies in their Brooklyn apartment. Gangland completed the sealing with a symbolic gesture—a strip of adhesive tape fastened across the lips of one of the victims. The victims were Antonio Siciliano, 50, and Cesare Lattano, 34.

Child's Cough Saves Three in Fire

Choking coughs of a three-year-old girl today saved the lives of her older brother and parents when flames destroyed their home on Washington street, East Weymouth.

Dolly Van Duzer coughed loud enough to awaken her father, Floyd. Finding the child in a smoke-filled room, he rushed her to safety, at the same time arousing his wife and 11-year-old son, Austin.

Housemaid Held In 'Love' Slaying

ANGELINE MARAVELLO

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Feb. 6 (INS) Angeline Maravello, pretty housemaid, was in jail today charged with murder, accused of killing her employer's son because, she said, he was "going around" with another woman after promising to marry her.

The man she is accused of shooting to death was Michael Rich, Jr., 23-year-old son of a well-to-do businessman.

"It was his father's fault," the girl declared, "I was good enough to scrub for them, but I wasn't good enough for his son."

The girl is accused of taking a gun belonging to the elder Rich and shooting Michael as he was talking on the telephone to his brother, Joseph.

'Irish Army' Bomb Plot Bared in London Court

LONDON, Feb. 6 (AP)—Allegations that the outlawed Irish republican army had formed a plan to blast the British out of Ireland were made in Bow street police court today as Scotland Yard guarded the British royal family, high officials and public buildings against bomb outrages.

At the trial of 11 men accused of conspiring to cause explosions, the prosecuting attorney spoke of a mysterious "aluminum powder," a new arrest of "considerable importance," and a plan, designated as "X" and described as "most comprehensive and covering every field of public activity."

PLANS REVEALED

He said the plans were discovered in a search of the home of Michael O'Shea and read:

"In order to exercise a maximum world effect, the diversion (presumably bombings) must be carried out at a time when no major or world crisis is on, but if it is carried on when trouble is anticipated, with the jumpiness and nervous expectation of the government as well as the nervous potential panic of the people, it can be exploited to the full."

The alleged plan gave details of a four-day ultimatum sent Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax on Jan. 13, four days before three explosions in various localities.

CALLED I. A. A. PLAN

The ultimatum, which referred to the "government of the Irish republic," threatened active intervention in Britain's "military or commercial life" unless British forces were withdrawn from Eire.

Another document, the attorney said, disclosed detailed arrangements for countrywide sabotage of military, air and naval establishments and stores, public services—including postal, telegraph and radio systems—key industries, newspapers, water supplies, drainage systems and fire brigades.

GOVERNESS LOSES FIGHT OVER RICHES

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—After fighting many years, insurance companies have paid $290,000 in policies on the life of Hisashi Fujimura, once regarded as a leading business man here.

On Aug. 14, 1931, He was found missing from his stateroom aboard the Red Star liner Belgenland. On board was his daughter, Toshika, then 7, and a Broadway dancer, Mary Lawley Von Reissner, registered on the passenger lists as "Miss Dale, governess." They had been on a cruise to Halifax and there were stories of foul play. The governess is left nothing.

Payment of the policies was announced by Harry C. M. Melick, attorney, who on Aug. 16, 1938, filed a proof of death.

"All claims have been paid," said Melick today. "All our claims have been settled and so far as I am concerned, the matter is definitely closed."

H. Fujimura

CENTRAL figure in the probe of the strange disappearance seven years ago of rich Japanese merchant aboard liner, Mary Lawley Von Reissner, former dancer and governess, received nothing in settlement of insurance policies of Hishashi Fujimura. Payment of $290,000 has been made by insurance companies.

FRANCO'S FOES ASK PEACE TALK

PERPIGNAN, France, Feb. 6 (AP)—Premier Juan Negrin of the Spanish government called a conference today with British and French envoys to Spain, presumably to take up mediation of the Spanish civil war.

Negrin's foreign minister, Julio Alvarez del Vayo, joined in arranging for the late afternoon meeting, while Negrin's defeated Catalonian army poured into France.

With Catalonia abandoned to the armies of Insurgent Generalissimo Franco, the Spanish government leaders were believed by diplomats to be discussing the possibility of ending the civil war by surrender of their remaining one-fourth of Spain.

It was presumed Negrin and Alvarez del Vayo would draw up terms on which surrender of the central and southeastern "island" territory might be carried out.

The meeting coincided with reports from Madrid that General Jose Miaja, supreme commander in central and southeastern Spain, had conferred at length with all civil and military authorities for that territory.

The government's remaining one-fourth of Spain embraces Valencia and Alicante as well as Madrid. Government forces there are estimated to number 500,000.

Melrose Holdup Suspects Grilled

Captured at gun point as the pair who held up two couples and robbed them of their car, two youths were in heavy bail after arraignment in Malden court today.

Alfred H. Quesnel, 18 of Julio street, Malden, and William J. Muse, 21, of Willow street, Melrose, were arrested near the spot where a car plunged into the Ell Pond brook in Melrose. Police say this is the machine the youths took at gunpoint "for a busy night."

Arraigned before Judge Eldridge J. Davis, Quesnel was ordered held in bonds of $10,000 and Muse in $5000 for a further hearing tomorrow.

Kiss Tragedy Girl Revealed

WINCHENDON, Feb. 6—Pretty Mary Niles, 16, today revealed herself as the girl whose refusal of a good night kiss caused Private Harold Smith of Fort Devens to shoot himself in Winchendon.

The girl, overcome with shock and grief, spent every minute possible at his bedside until he was taken back in dying condition to the military hospital at Devens.

The soldier, according to police, admitted that he shot himself with a rifle. The bullet passed through the body from the left chest to the right hip.

Frankly revealing herself as the soldier's sweetheart, Miss Niles said she was still fond of him, and the refused kiss was no sign she had lost interest.

6 Are Rescued From Jap Sub

TOKIO, Feb. 6 (AP)—The rescue of six crew members of the Submarine I-63, which sank in the 330-feet-deep Bungo channel Thursday, was announced today by the Japanese admiralty.

The fate of 41 others aboard the vessel—one of Japan's best undersea craft—when she collided with another submarine during maneuvers, remained unknown.

A brief communique gave the bare information of the rescue and the admiralty declined to furnish additional details. Officials said, however, that rescue operations were continuing.

BRITAIN PLEDGES WAR AID TO PARIS

LONDON, Feb. 6 (INS)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain today solemnly reaffirmed the unbreakable solidarity of Great Britain and France against any threat of aggression.

Replying to a question in the House of Commons, the prime minister said:

"I feel bound to make plain that the solidarity of interests in which France and Britain are united is such that any threat to the vital interests of France, from whatever quarter it came, must evoke the immediate co-operation of this country."

Chamberlain called attention to the statement recently made to the Chamber of Deputies by French Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet, who again pledged France's military aid to Britain in case of need.

"His majesty's government," Chamberlain said, "is in complete accord with M. Bonnet's view that in case of war all the forces of Great Britain will be placed at the disposal of France."

Westport Turf Backers Agree To Lose Dates

In a sudden shift, counsel for Outdoor Amusements, Inc., backers of the new proposed horse track at Westport, announced today that the organization will agree that the State Racing Commission rescind racing dates granted by the former commission.

Attorney George Alpert's announcement came after testimony had been introduced at a State House hearing that plans submitted for the Westport track would allow for only the track and grandstand fitting in the area.

There was no room even for parking space or stables, according to Louis A. Chase, introduced as track surveyor.

It was testified earlier that the Westport organization made application for a racing license last December and, although owning no land, named the site and asserted it owned that site.

Today's hearing was held in Gardner auditorium, following a ruling by Attorney-General Paul A. Dever that the present Racing Commission has the right to ratify or rescind the racing dates granted by the previous commission.

Under the old commission setup, Commissioners George G. Moyse and Thomas R. Foley, appointees of former Governor Hurley, voted choice racing dates to Westport.

Missing Allenby Girl Is Found

CHICAGO, Feb. 6 (INS)—Viviane Eugenie Allenby, 18-year-old missing student nurse, who dropped from sight Jan. 18 after leaving St. Luke's Hospital in New York, was found in Chicago today working as a nursemaid.

Viviane Allenby

Miss Allenby, a third cousin of the late Lord Edmund Allenby, British World War hero, was working in the home of Max Fuhrer, caring for the Fuhrers' three children. The Fuhrers said Miss Allenby was the best nursemaid they ever had employed.

She was found when a man recognized her as the missing girl from a newspaper photograph. Miss Allenby, while not seeking to hide her identity, refused to say why she had left the New York hospital so suddenly.

Dwyer Plans No Pardon Plea

SOUTH PARIS, Me., Feb. 6 (AP)—E. Walker Abbott, who defended Paul N. Dwyer, 19, South Paris schoolboy serving life for the garroting of elderly Dr. James G. Littlefield, said today he did not immediately contemplate seeking a pardon for the youth.

Abbott and Dwyer conferred at State prison in Thomaston Friday, causing speculation as to the next move in the bizarre case which sent two men to prison for life for the same crime.

Francis M. Carroll, former Oxford County deputy sheriff and father of Dwyer's erstwhile sweetheart, Barbara, 19, was the other man convicted after Dwyer accused him of killing the doctor and his wife.

Pius Prepares To Observe 17th Year as Pope

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 6 (AP)—Pope Pius XI adhered to his day of rest today, the seventeenth anniversary of his election to the throne of St. Peter, to conserve his strength for forthcoming ceremonies and conferences.

The Pope has sorrowed over the war in Spain and has spoken of the difficulties which Catholics have met in Germany and to a lesser degree in Italy.

The week may produce a new chapter in relations between the Holy See and Italy, since the Pontiff has summoned all Italian bishops to the Vatican for the 10th anniversary of the Lateran accord next Saturday.

Many prelates believed he would give the Bishops a statement of the church's position toward Italian racial laws and treatment of Catholic action. He has spoken of the concordat as having been "wounded."

The Lateran accord ended 58 years of controversy between the church and state. It included three treaties, one recognizing sovereignty of the Holy See in Vatican City, a concordat upon the rights of the church, and a financial convention settling claims of the Holy See against Italy.

A timely biography of Pope Pius XI, written by Thomas B. Morgan, author of "A Reporter at the Papal Court," will be published in the Boston Sunday Advertiser, beginning next Sunday.

CLARK, CAROLE REACHED TOP AFTER HEARTBREAKING YEARS

Clark Gable was jilted by the first woman he ever proposed to . . . he was a flop when he first went to Hollywood . . . He still doesn't believe that he is the answer to every woman's prayer.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 6—Clark Gable and Carole Lombard will have plenty to talk about in the long evening before the fireplace in their dream house . . .

He can tell her all about the days when he was a lumber-jack, a hop-picker, a surveyor, a telephone company "trouble-shooter" . . . She can tell him how the producer of her first Paramount picture was warned by his assistants that her assignment to him indicated the studio wanted his scalp.

And he can tell her, too, of the five heart-breaking years he spent in Hollywood, trying to crash the studio gates, and of his failure and determination to go away, never to return . . .

But the same light of determined ambition burned for both and finally brought them together.

It is interesting to speculate on what might have happened if Frances Doerfler, the Oregon rancher's daughter, had accepted his proposal. Would he finally have stormed the heights to become Hollywood's most successful player?

It doesn't seem likely, for much of that success can be credited to another woman, Josephine Dillon, his first wife . . .

He was still in love with Frances—he spent all of his spare time at the Doerfler ranch in those days.

He was a "trouble shooter" for the Portland Telephone company at the time, and Miss Dillon, a native of Los Angeles, had opened a theatrical studio in Portland . . . He was still a timid, gawky youth when he asked leave to join her classes.

At her suggestion—she even offered to finance it—he went away into the country for awhile, and when he returned he was in good, robust condition. Then she began her instruction.

It was day and night, without thought of hours.

Then, a few months later, she returned to Hollywood. Gable and Frances, in the meantime, had talked things over, and had decided they weren't meant for one another. He worked at odd jobs for awhile, then followed his instructress. Shortly after he arrived in Hollywood—and this was in 1923—they were married, a circumstance which never became public until their divorce, seven years later.

They tried to crash Hollywood the hard way—and they missed! . . .

Hollywood simply wasn't interested in the big, ungainly youth, with the wide smile, and the big ears. His extra jobs were few and far between, and the $7.50 checks he occasionally brought home were most welcome.

One night, when things were toughest, they were out shopping to a Hollywood store known as "Clark's." They bought whatever they were after and left. As they walked away Gable said:

"You know, that's a grand name, Clark. It's my middle name, too."

He stopped, and then—

"You know," he went on, "maybe people don't like 'Billy' Gable. I don't think I'll ever use it again.

"From this moment on I'm Clark Gable."

And from that time on he has been Clark Gable . . .

One of the first to whom they appealed for a job for him was Denison Clift, then a writer on the Fox lot.

They were making "The Great Train Robbery" then, and Clift says now:

"I got three letters from Josephine about her young husband. And in the last of three she sent some photographs. They looked pretty good, and I turned them over to the assistant director.

"He gave him a few days work. . . . Then I lost track of him."

He lost track of a million dollars.

"I couldn't even find an agent who would handle me," says Clark now, reminiscently, "so I finally made up my mind to scram."

He did, but not until after he had toted a spear in Jane Cowl's production of "Romeo and Juliet."

So, after five heart-breaking years, he shook off Hollywood and went on to New York.

Gable's second visit to Hollywood turned into a sensation. Overnight he was engaged for pictures, and in no time at all, he was a star . . . Read tomorrow's installment.

DEMAND U. S. SEVER ALL FOREIGN TIES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—Agitation for a declaration of national policy against entangling foreign alliances began in Congress today.

An amendment to the neutrality law, proclaiming that the United States intends to remain strictly neutral as between all nations' controversies, was advocated by Senator Pat McCarran (D.) of Nevada.

Meanwhile, a private Senate inquiry was said to have revealed that the War Department has delivered to Great Britain supplies of its "universal directors," up-to-the-minute devices used in anti-aircraft batteries.

The investigation was said to have developed that these instruments were turned over to the British in line with President Roosevelt's repeated declarations in support of democracies.

Senator Schwellenbach (D.) of Washington, an ardent New Dealer, made a blunt demand that the United States "mind its own business." He said:

"GAVE GERMANY HITLER"

"If war comes to Europe, the United States must have none of it. To be out, to keep out and stay out is the consummate wish of every straight-thinking American.

"We helped Germany get rid of the Kaiser and they got Hitler. Should we relieve them of him, the chances are that another 20 years would see an even more dangerous leadership."

Senator Townsend (R.) of Delaware, said an effort undoubtedly would be made to "get to the bottom" of a secret conference between Mr. Roosevelt and the Senate military committee last week.

The President has termed "a deliberate lie" any statement that he told the committee this country's frontier was on the Rhine or in France.

Senators Bridges (R.) of New Hampshire, and Clark (D.) of Missouri have contended that since the President gave his version of the conference, the committee members should be authorized to give theirs.

"The things Mr. Roosevelt told us were by no means the subject of his press release later," said Bridges at Boston. "Our people have a right to know whether they are being dragged down the road to war."

LA FOLLETTE PROTESTS

Senator La Follette (Prog.) of Wisconsin, who frequently has supported Roosevelt measures, said in a speech last night at Atlantic City, N. J., that "if the foreign policies of this nation are formulated secretly by the chief executive, it is a burlesque on government."

Senator Capper (R.) of Kansas, declaring the United States should remain aloof from Europe's troubles, told reporters he favored a ban on exports of war materials to any country at any time.

It was the sale of American planes to France, plus the discovery that the government had been cooperating with a French air mission, which initiated the military committee's study of foreign policy last week.

Senator Reed (R.) of Kansas, said the nation "should not take part in the quarrels of Europe." He said he considered the sale of war materials to European countries an intervention in European affairs.

The animated Senate discussions of foreign policy provoked speculation as to what effect, if any, recent developments would have on the $552,000,000 defense program and the neutrality law.

$200,000 Lack In Fund Drive Feared by Rand

Greater Boston's 1939 Community Fund campaign is likely to end $200,000 short of its minimum goal of $4,645,000, Stuart C. Rand, general chairman, warned today at the report luncheon at the Boston City Club.

Two more days of solicitation remain with $3,910,717 already brought in by 15,000 workers in 48 communities, $734,283 short of the goal.

Rand said:

"The campaign goal contains no penny of exaggeration. It is impossible for the agencies to continue the same health and welfare services on less than the amount we seek.

"If we fall short of our goal it means less care for the sick and needy, less encouragement and guidance through our youth agencies and less of other vital services needed to maintain the quality of life in our community."

Helping swell the total today was a $40,000 corporate subscription from Lever Brothers, and an additional $9356 donation from executives and employes. Already, a $75,000 subscription has been reported from Francis A. Countway, president of the company.

From Harvard University comes $19,799, or 131 per cent of the college quota, without taking into consideration $25,000 in special gifts from members of the faculty.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology comes second in the school and college group with $9456.

Walsh in Flood Plea

Making an unprecedented appearance today before the state legislative judiciary committee, U. S. Senator David I. Walsh urged passage of an enabling act which would permit the federal government to acquire exclusive control over land taken in Massachusetts for flood control projects.

Flood control work necessary for the safety and health of Springfield, Holyoke, Northampton and other western communities is being held up by lack of necessary legislation, Senator Walsh said.

Under present statutes, he explained, government acquisition of land for such structures as post offices, arsenals, navy yards, etc., provided for "and there is no provision for fixed terms of ownership."

The issue of power rights is not necessary, he added.

Plunges Into Harbor Then He Climbs Out

Stepping on the icy gangplank of the trawler Wave tied up at the fish pier in South Boston Thursday, Joseph Di of Sargent street, Revere, fell into the water today. He climbed to safety on a pier ladder and was taken to the Hospital, where he was held for treatment.

I haven't slept for three nights. It is the uncertainty that is mad dening. I don't think the children are in Muddy river.

"I think," and her eyes grew bright, "I think a childless woman has them somewhere, who wants children. Yes, that may be it."

Maybe she went on, "their is even a worse fate than drowning. Oh, if I could only know then I could resign myself."

Mrs. Howles is 35 but, under the strain of the ordeal, looks older.

THE BRIGHTER SIDE

By DAMON RUNYON

Copyright, 1939, by King Features Syndicate, Inc., International Copyright and All Other Rights Reserved.

Our old man used to say that he guessed that the attribute he envied most in other men was physical courage. He said that all his life he had been pretty much of a physical coward. He said that was not his fault—it was just the way he was built.

He said he tried to console himself by thinking that maybe his cowardice had kept him out of a lot of trouble. He said, for instance, he was too big a coward to knock anybody over, or hold up a bank or commit any other crime.

He said if he had been gifted with physical courage proportionate to his intellectual bravery he would have been a great man.

Our old man said he guessed he would have been the laughing stock of the community if it had been generally known what a coward he was, but what had saved him was the fact that I don't think the human race was just as cowardly as he was.

He said the cowards were all too busy trying to let on they were brave themselves to notice his cowardice. He said no coward likes to publicize his cowardice, but that an occasion once arose when he felt confession necessary and it won him a reputation for bravery.

He said a big tough fellow was aching to slug him the day and our old man thought if he came right out and admitted he was a coward it would shame the fellow out of his idea. So our old man said to the fellow, why, you might cause me to die from fright if you hit me because I am the most awful coward in the world. It would be no credit to you to lick a coward like me, I am a horrible, terrible coward.

The fellow got to thinking that statement over. He could not figure that anybody would admit to cowardice unless they had an ulterior motive. He decided that our old man was claiming to be a coward to deceive him (the fellow) into thinking he really was a coward. The fellow came to the conclusion that our old man was probably the bravest man in town and walked hurriedly away. Everybody else around got to thinking the same way he did.

BOSTON AFTER DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

Monday Morning Musings:

The last literary work with a background of Boston politics was a novel by Joe Dineen, the reporter, and although it purported to be wholly fiction, many of its host of local readers thought they derived a clue to the author's characters and intentions from the tome's title, "Ward Eight" . . .

GEORGE HOLLAND

The probable next literary work with a background of Boston politics has come under the scrutiny of your correspondent in manuscript form, fresh from the typewriter of the Hon. Michael J. Ward of Brighton . . . But it's fact, not fiction, and a good title might—but it won't—be "How Ward Ate."

The Whole Truth—Nearly:

Here you will perceive, when the work reaches print, the soul of a professional politician, as it shrives itself to the public . . . It will not be a whole-souled baring, naturally, because the former Senator from Ward 9, now of Brighton, doesn't toot his own horn—although he once worked as a deputy U. S. marshal in this district . . .

Truth is, that the politico-author has few aims to confide to his public . . . He sketches his career as the youngest mayoral secretary (at 21), as a very young city councilor, as a state senator, a representative and Democratic whip and as the Farley of more than one spirited local fight . . .

One of the sins the reading public will find interesting was the author's dereliction in failing to call the police when two of his constituents walked out of the Senate chamber with a valuable senatorial cuspidor . . . It happened the day Senator Ward was inducted into office and was about to occupy the chair the late President Coolidge once sat in officially on Beacon Hill . . . Two Senate pages witnessed the theft of the cuspidor . . . One is now a senator himself . . .

He will learn from Senator Ward's book that the larceny was an act of rebellion—a gesture of protest at the sight of the man they had helped elect attired in formal morning wear without the price of a drink (for them) in his striped jeans.

But one chapter has timeliness and extraordinary interest . . . It discloses that Boston's late city greeter, the very wealthy Tom Johnson, once paid off $85,000 of the Republican national debt, and then in company of the former Senator, stalked out of Herbert Hoover's office in the White House, leaving a blanched and shaken President behind him.

Mr. Hoover Said "No":

The lamented Mr. Johnson has been getting a great deal of post-mortem attention in the daily press because of the efforts of his sister to collect a service-fee from his estate . . . But until this is written, very few know that Mr. Johnson had the temerity to demand that Herbert Hoover restore diplomatic relations with the Vatican, appointing him, Mr. Johnson, as ambassador . . . .

Mr. Johnson never asked the Republicans for anything else again, including his $25,000.

In his stories of Boston campaigns the author is most eloquent and amusing . . . In the polishing and revising which is necessary it will be a shame if the author's natural style is tampered with.

Once Over Lightly:

Exclusive: That a former big shot rum-runner has forgotten the matter of his income from the years 1919-33 inclusive, and that his arrearage amounts to nearly a half million is a very important entry on the local docket . . . The Treasury Department has asked help from the state police in checking . . .

A feature of the Cheer Club show at the Somerset was the singing of young Joe Lyons of Washington . . . Young Lyons has been a feature of Cheer Club shows . . . Not many of the embryo million-dollar radio stars of the hour have been hearing the cash registers ring from their first inches at the mike which is not a pun . . .

Lyons was let out from a modest job in the milk control commission three days after the Saltonstall occupation of Beacon Hill . . .

2 Bay State Stars Win Film Honors

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 6 (AP)—Twelve thousand film folk, with the world as a kibitzer, began choosing today the best picture and best actors of 1938.

It's Oscar Time in Hollywood . . . The time when actors and actresses and directors and producers live in fear and trembling of the winners of gold plated Academy statuettes.

The list of nominees compiled by the screen guilds has been released. The list is used to up-swing in stars and movie making which was started in a shack.

Of the ten pictures selected to play the year's top spot, five are British products, and a third, "Grand Illusion," is French.

TWO MASS. STARS SCORE

Two Britishers—Robert Donat and Leslie Howard and Gallic Charles Boyer shared nominations as the five best male players of 1938 with Spencer Tracy, a Bostonian.

Nominations for the best performances for women included Bette Davis of Marie Mitchell Jerome and Margaret Sullavan of Cambridge, Mass., in "Three Comrades."

A British discovery, Wendy Hiller, broke into the race, if the five women nominated for the best feminine performance.

MAIL BALLOTS FRIDAY

Ballots for final voting will be mailed out by the Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Sciences Friday, but before then, most of the 12,000 voters in the industry will have their minds made up.

Noticeable by her absence from the list of five actresses nominated was Luise Rainer, only two-time winner in the 11-year history of acting awards.

"Alexander's Ragtime Band," biggest money maker of 1938, got in the list of ten best pictures, but Walt Disney's feature cartoon, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," a close rival for the box-office championship, was not voted upon.

French Sign Hollywood Stars

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 6. You cannot close your eyes to the increasing interest created by French pictures in America. The Forrester-Parrant Company has signed Marlene Dietrich to star in "The Image" by Erich Marie Remarque.

One reason Danielle Darrieux hasn't returned to America is because she can write her own ticket with this same company and get a sizable check each week. Simone Simon, who couldn't draw flies at the box-office here, is still made a star that is the talk of Europe.

Louella O. Parsons

L.A. Doctor hesitated a long time before signing for Michel Corday's [illegible] American [illegible] Paris to [illegible]

The magic name of Ziegfeld and the stars he discovered will live forever. Not content with having made Fanny Brice, Eddie Cantor and Bert Wheeler stars, Mayer made "The Great Ziegfeld" and "The Ziegfeld Girl" has been scripted by William Anthony McGuire and is ready to go. Now a third movie, "The Ziegfeld Follies" is planned. It's Mervyn LeRoy's idea and was brought about by the realization of how many Ziegfeld stars there are in Hollywood.

Eve Fields, Fannie Brice, Eddie Cantor and Bert Wheeler are a few, besides the many beauties including Marion Davies, Justine Johnson and Billie Dove who became world famous.

Snapshots of Hollywood

Paulette Goddard is wearing a new diamond necklace reported to have cost plenty. Sari Maritza and Lew Ayres dining at Victor Hugo's were surprised but not embarrassed by Saul Bartlett's unusual treat to Sari's former husband, Sam Katz and Louis Mayer's. The Katz-Mayer romance quiet for a time is on again. Fred MacMurray who has saved $75 tickets, cracked [illegible] with a diamond and garnet [illegible] Lucille Ball for Mr. MacMurray's birthday.

ABANDONING AN EMPIRE

THE UNITED STATES should certainly make whatever provision is necessary for its safety on the Pacific coast and in the Pacific ocean.

However, arguments about whether the island of Guam should or should not be fortified are of trivial consequences.

It is not Guam that should be fortified, but the Philippines.

Guam is a fly-speck in the Pacific.

The Philippines are an empire.

The abandonment of the Philippines by the Roosevelt Administration will be remembered and woefully regretted long after the other follies and blunders of the New Deal have been forgotten or remembered only in the profit and loss accounts of American history.

The Philippines would have been kept American by any sound-minded American administration, not only because of their great material wealth and enormous advantages but because of their enormous strategic value as a protection to the United States.

Adequately fortified they would be a menace (not to any Asiatic power nor to any Asiatic business) to any military attack on America emanating from Asia and exposing its flank or base to counter-attack from the Philippines.

AIR AND NAVAL BASES in the Philippines could be manned and supported by a million of Philippine manpower if necessary.

They could be completely defended and indeed thoroughly protected from all assault.

They are strategically, and would be much nearer to and more dangerous to the Asiatic bases from which any attack on America might emanate than the projected small scale bases of fortifications at distant Guam.

Moreover, the Philippines are or were perfectly proper and extremely important American possessions which would in themselves justify fortification and protection, while in fortifying Guam there is nothing to protect, and nothing to justify fortification except the remote chance of occasional opportunity of harassing, feebly but at long range, a possibly hostile Asiatic power.

We are straining at a gnat and swallowing a camel.

We are fortifying a pinpoint and abandoning an empire.

We are defending something which is not worth defending, and which is incapable of adequate defense or effective offense.

And we are contemplating and relinquishing the one great providential protection that was in our hands to prevent or render extremely difficult any serious attack upon the coast of our homeland!

OF ALL THE FOLLIES and futilities, of all the abnegations and [illegible] of the New Deal, the abandonment by the United States of the Philippines with enormous protective power and [illegible] Philippines easily ranks as first and most futile.

On the [illegible] Senator Tydings who voted for this impotent [illegible] and brought forth in infamy, should be [illegible] and [illegible] epitaph:

"This small American [illegible] for the abandonment of an empire, and the [illegible] America's homeland to invasion by the hostile hordes of Asia."

Requiescat [illegible] PEREGRINUS.

NEW ENGLAND JOINS with the rest of the nation in celebrating the 28th anniversary of the Boy Scout movement in America. This is fitting and proper.

The Boy Scout movement represents American Democracy, not only WORKING, but AT ITS BEST.

It is AMERICA'S ANSWER to the challenge of all the foreign "isms" that have sought to corrupt our country, its people and its youth.

How Science Saves Lives at Sea

By EDWIN C. HILL
[illegible] King Features [illegible]

ONCE AGAIN most dramatically, the contribution of radio to the saving of human life is brought to our attention. I mean the [illegible] of the ice-stricken Cunard liner, and the rescue within a few hours of 10 of its 217 passengers.

It would be interesting, I think, if someone with a zest for statistical research would go back over the record and find how many human lives are marked up to the credit of the air-to-ground Marconi. In the past a ledger thousands of names long [illegible] on the old days.

BACK IN [illegible] when ships depended on sail, a fine ship for her time was lost in the middle of the Atlantic. Her propeller shaft broke in two, and there she was, helpless as a log. And it was days before help got to her, by chance, [illegible].

It was on May 11, 1853, that the Lady of the Lake, bound from England to Quebec, met an iceberg and sank with a loss of 215 lives. Hours elapsed between the collision and the sinking, and radio doubtless would have saved these lives.

The [illegible] of that little huddle of desperate men and women of the Cavalier clinging to their [illegible] preservers in that [illegible] waste, the women [illegible] singing, dramatically abridges the story of radio's boon to seafarers.

But navigation [illegible] has made a tremendous progress in the last century. Any tramp freighter of today probably could give her location more accurately than the doomed Lady of the Lake could have given it in 1853. A friend of this writer [illegible] of passing in a dense fog in a little Empire line boat, driven off her course, caught in many a side slip, with no chance to use the sextant.

"Do you know where we are?" my friend asked the captain.

"Certainly," he replied. "If this fog should lift, the Fire Island light would be dead ahead."

The fog did lift in about half an hour, and there was the Fire Island light.

"How did you do it?" asked the passenger.

"By soundings," he said. "By knowing the bottom at this ocean the way you know your own yard, and by [illegible] from Repeated soundings give us a configuration which gives us our location. That would have been utterly impossible without those maps of the ocean floor in our chartroom."

It seems to this writer that when the falling Cavalier was able to spark to the outside world the location of this one little speck of water in the vasty deep it was a triumph that little homo sapiens may long remember and some day fittingly memorialize.

CONTACTING OCEAN FLIERS

'Bugs' Baer Says:

ENGLISH ROYALTY will be in the United States from June [illegible] to [illegible]. The King and Queen will arrive at Buffalo which will probably be playing Jersey City around that time. Hoover Jersey City is used to a fine type of [illegible].

HOW SHALL WE act in the presence of the regal couple? The only motto we know is Honi soit qui mal y pense. That started when the Duchess of Salisbury lost her garter and Edward III wrote this prescription that translates: Foul to him who evil thinketh. That's just about enough classic language to start a modern drug store. But not enough to be presented at court.

THE IMPORTANT thing to remember is the curtsey. You bend the knee and bow the neck like a barnyard singing "Old Man River." Then you back out of the palace [illegible] without the aid of a rear view mirror. This is practically hard to do.

THIS VISIT will not be like Buckingham Palace. The King will not be presented to court. Under the parks too long by a fire plug. But it will all be very exciting and very much social. Nobody gets into the royal presence whose uncle isn't on a totem pole.

Philippine Naval Base Is Needed First

By REAR ADMIRAL YATES STIRLING
Noted Naval Authority and Former Chief of Staff, U. S. Navy

THE frequently turbulent waters of the wide Pacific ocean again are being violently agitated because of a sudden decision to bring to realization the long delayed naval plan of fortifying Guam and establishing there an air and submarine base.

Japan strongly opposes. Guam is only 1500 miles from Japan's main islands, and air forces from Guam in war could threaten Japan.

Guam is about 30 miles long and 10 miles wide. It has no natural harbors of any size for a fleet. It lies surrounded by Japan's mandated islands, many of which, DESPITE TREATY STIPULATIONS, have been built into air and submarine bases for the Japanese navy. These bases were built by Japan to help the progress of our war fleet toward the Philippines.

THE FORTIFYING of Guam and the establishment of air and submarine bases there, at this late date, has the resemblance of a red herring being dragged across the trail of the perplexing naval controversy in the western Pacific.

Guam as an isolated naval and air outpost can result only as a blow in the air, unless, at the same time WE ARE PREPARED TO FORTIFY AND CONSTRUCT A FLEET BASE IN THE PHILIPPINES.

If now the United States is determined at last to secure for its war fleet necessary operating mobility in the Orient, in order to safeguard the Philippines, and maybe Alaska, then a terminal base in the Philippines must be our primary objective.

Then in order to protect the fleet's lines of communication from Hawaii to the Orient, fortifications at Guam and even a naval base there will be seen to be most necessary.

If we are unwilling to risk the preparation of a naval base in the Philippines to give our fleet mobility in Oriental waters, for [illegible] war upon the building of a base and submarine base at Guam, then we develop only in advance of [illegible] situation with Japanese diplomacy [illegible] events and it will not increase by an IOTA OUR SECURITY IN THE ORIENT.

We cannot hope that Japan will not in any way increase our fleet mobility in the Far East. The preparation of a first class naval base in the Philippines only can accomplish that objective.

MANY believe today that the control of the Pacific ocean allowing its passage from surface war ships of our forces and submarines.

Japan's lines of communication to Asia are her primary concern at the moment. Our submarines based on and near and in the Philippines [illegible] Japan's people at home [illegible] communication so important in the conduct of war.

Here [illegible] kind of war.

A NAVAL BASE IN THE PHILIPPINES SHOULD BE OUR FIRST OBJECTIVE if we are looking for security in the Orient. With fleet mobility assured there, then the need to keep open our fleet lines of communication to the eastward, will show the need of the development of Guam, Wake and Midway to be accomplished simultaneously.

Merely fortifying and preparing Guam alone and doing nothing about a base in the Philippines seems like sending a boy to perform a man's work.

THEY'RE AT IT again, Dad and Jim. Wrangling about jobs how a fellow should feel about his job . . . whether it should be the main event or a side issue . . . and whether Dad, for all his long hours and low wages, got more out of life as a young worker than Jim does today.

Life, for Dad, in 1909, centered around his job, as it had for all his fathers before him. Work wasn't a curse; it was a man's main interest in life, practically his sole source of adventure and human contact.

Work to Son is anything but the main issue. It's something you must do to get the wherewithal. If you're lucky, you like your job fairly well. If you're unlucky you detest it.

But, in either case, you keep your eyes on the clock . . . don't do a darned thing you aren't paid for . . . and start really living only after the office door bangs behind you.

THERE ARE, SON CONCEDES, DOPES WHO REFUSE TO ACCEPT THIS PROGRAM . . . WHO PREFER TO PLUG THE CLOCK AROUND. SUCH SAPS ARE NOT ONLY INDIVIDUAL BLIGHTS BUT A MAJOR MENACE. BY WORKING OVERTIME . . . BY SHOWING UNDUE ENTHUSIASM AND SHOULDERING UNPAID-FOR RESPONSIBILITY, THEY MAKE THINGS TOUGHER FOR EVERYONE AND SHOULD, OH, DEFINITELY, BE FIRMLY REPRESSED.

Ask Son what he means by "real life" and he'll name diversified aims and interests and commodities. Clothes, keep ones figure, impress, if possible — Oo rank high in the program. Cars? Oh, definitely. Sports of all sorts. Shows. Travel. Ad lib. And of course, Romance when and if you can afford to keep it in the style to which YOU desire to become accustomed.

SUCH TO SON . . . to even very regularly 1939 males . . . are the various essentials of modern life. Dad, it goes without saying, scorns all them. Calls them sissy stuff. Usually gets downright profane. Insists, once more, that to a REAL MAN jobs, etc., etc. etc. And again the row is on.

So what? I'm putting that up to you. What's YOUR vote on this Job question? Do you side with Dad—or Son? And in either case do you think the world is the better or worse because of their particular viewpoint? Quite a question! Got an answer? WE'LL BE WAITING!

NOTES FROM THE INSIDE OF A COLUMNIST'S HEAD: —This is one of those days in a columnist's life when there is nothing to write about. I don't know what other columnists do about such a state. I wish I did.

There must be a lot of things going on in this town that would be fine for my column. I know that. Yet I still can't think of anything.

People often say to me: "I heard a story the other day for your column—but I can't remember it just now. It certainly was cute, though. If I think of it I'll let you know."

I have a little black notebook with my own autograph traced on it in gold letters. Harry and Jack Marshard gave it to me, and I carry it around with me—in case I hear or see anything suitable for a paragraph. George Holland has a notebook somewhat like mine, only his is much larger, and he's always writing in it.

RIGHT NOW the only thing in my notebook worth mentioning is the name Willys Demond, whose business name is simply "Willys of Hollywood." He's coming to Boston pretty soon to tell the Boston shops his extremely advanced ideas on hosiery.

I thought I might talk to him about it when he arrived. All I know at the moment is that he designed the jewel-studded stockings which Alice Faye wore in the picture, "In Old Chicago."

He believes in little, zippered pockets at the top of stockings. And clocks on the outside only. And for evening, stockings with rhinestones on them.

I myself have some evening stockings with a cluster of brilliants at the toes. Designed, I suspect, by Willys of Hollywood.

---

I REMEMBER, now, someone mentioning that Frances Grant has been dancing, at the Cocoanut Grove, and I thought of calling her up and asking her if she's still planning to go back to Hollywood. Frances is the Somerville girl who was doing so remarkably well in the movies when she became the victim of a studio merger. I place her picture at the top of the column. (Time out while I call.)

Frances answered the phone and told us this: She is teaching dancing in Somerville—but hasn't stopped thinking about how to succeed in Hollywood. She may try a stock company this summer. Or go to New York and hunt for a part in a musical show. She thinks these the only sensible ways of making Hollywood notice you.

I could tell you more about Frances—but the space should be filled up by this time. See how easy it is to write a column?

GOSSIP IN GOTHAM: Was there a party in that Mamaroneck home the night before George Weinberg's suicide? . . . Eva Ortega, singing hit in "Set to Music," is being tempted with Hollywood offers but Noel Coward is talking her out of accepting them . . . Jeanne Blanche, Paradise specialty dancer, and Nick Condos, of the brother act, are yum, yum . . . Those Internal Revenue men stage door-johnny-ing the burlesque houses are there on business—strip teasers' income tax items.

---

SHIRLEY SIDNEY, tenor sax tootler in the Rita Rio band, and Johnny Johnson, the same thing in Gray Gordon's orchestra, adore each other . . . Those armed guards at the pier when the Conte de Savoia docked were watching the unloading of $10,000,000 shipment of Italian art objects lent by Mussolini, and secretly bound for the San Francisco Fair . . . Governor Lehman should have read the FIRST telegram Prosecutor Dewey wrote to him in reply to Lehman's request to investigate the Weinberg suicide.

---

ANDRE KOSTELANETZ' anti-jitterbug orchestra has been invited to play for the Yale Junior Prom . . . Fred Waring will entertain at the President's dinner to his Cabinet . . . German movie agents are scouting the English film set in London, offering dictators, cameramen and technicians double the usual rates to go to Germany and bolster the picture-making business there . . . President Roosevelt and Sheridan Downey (Cal.) are tiffing because Downey didn't get the appointments he wanted for Pierson Hall and Herb Smith, his campaign managers.

---

GOOD ENTERTAINMENT: The best things in town are: Adelaide Moffett singing at the Persian Room, the marvelous-is-the-only-word-for-it performance of the Sallei Puppets at the Casa Manana; Beatrice Lillie crawling across the stage trying to look invisible in the last scene of the first act in "Set to Music"; Norma Shearer in "Idiot's Delight" at the Capitol; the exciting result of Hecht and MacArthur having fun with Kipling in "Gunga Din," at the Music Hall; Carlos and Carita, the tiny dance team at the Havana-Madrid.

---

QUICK ONES! Sonja Henie and her mama are picking up the Normandie cruise in Bermuda . . . Richard Whitney, the ex-Wall Streeter, is using his influence with prominent New Yorkers—to get first-run films shown in Sing Sing.

---

TAG LINE: Perhaps it has whiskers, but Belle Baker defines a jitterbug as "A kid with one foot in the grove and the other on a piano peal."

WAR FACTS

By HUGH S. JOHNSON

NEW YORK CITY—Mr. Ickes says there is no danger of this Administration getting us into any European war. The President supposes that there are necessary steps of war which we can to control dictators and that there is no intention of ever sending our troops to Europe.

We don't know whether these premises are correct. Many persons would say that something else than war is [illegible] in pursuing for the first step. I suggest, that one matter not to be overlooked at this [illegible] is the [illegible] Germany [illegible] in France and [illegible] in Italy. Neither [illegible] Britain and America.

• • •

IT IS A FACT that before the Russian [illegible] expected us to send great armies to France and [illegible] in Italy, Serbia and Africa.

The [illegible] Army, Mr. Secretary, [illegible] early in 1917 wanted us to [illegible] to fling across the ocean reserves of raw material, [illegible] munitions, money, [illegible].

They got what they asked for, [illegible] of the economic [illegible] fantastical absurdities. Then Russia cracked up. The Germans almost broke through on the Western Front. Soon a new Armed Mastery Mission was in Washington pleading for men by the hundreds of thousands.

We stepped up our rate of manpower mobilization and troop movements 1000 per cent in a few weeks.

If we had not done that the Germans would have won. And we never could have done that if a few individuals in government had not revamped our whole system for mobilization on a more realistic theory than that "God will win the war" or that "Our participation will not be military but economic."

• • •

THEY BEGAN that change before the Russian collapse and the change of Allied policy not to rely on American military effort. They did so because, as Hindenburg himself later said: "They understood war." They knew that once you are in it you can't control its course or fight against it partially or secretly. It is a death struggle between peoples.

As Tommy Corcoran says: "If you are going to shoot at all, shoot to the middle." Once you push the button that gets you into war you can no more protect "grandma's and granny's than you can pull a trigger and fire off a gun gradually and gently."

This [illegible] is substantially accurate on the War I War. Mr. Edward G. Buehler called me for saying the President [illegible] "crucified" the Allies and brought us into the World War. His point is that the Allies took over in November after we entered in April 1917.

My statement was [illegible] careless to be subject to that criticism; but if the meaning was not clear enough it IS clear in this narrative.

We didn't get into the World War immediately until March, 1918, and that was forced by the Russian collapse.

[illegible] Under Pershing [illegible] part [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

Dramatic Club Folk to Be Feted

Talent scouts not of the Hollywood variety, but of the Cambridge Social Dramatic Club, will be on the look-out for possible stars and starlets for future productions, when new members of the club gather for a tea in their honor a week from Sunday in Brattle Hall.

This annual party will offer new members an appropriate initiation into the world of grease paint and footlights, for it will be held in the Green Room backstage. The entire cast of "Call It a Day," which the club is presenting February 17 and 18, will be present to welcome the guests together with the directors, who will be hosts.

The club, which is now in its 49th season, provides a pleasant hobby for those interested in amateur theatricals, and on the more serious side it supports the Cambridge Social Union, one of the oldest settlement houses in the city.

Pourers at the tea will include Mrs. Melville Weston, Miss Mary Almy, Mrs. Philip G. Carleton, Mrs. Charles F. Toppan, Miss Pauline Jones and Mrs. Charles S. Bolster. Mrs. Richard Hall has assumed the responsibilities of chairman of the party, with the assistance of Mrs. Samuel H. Cross, Mrs. Henry W. Newbegin, Mrs. John W. In Buffalo at the race track, I had met Big Tim Sullivan of New York Tammany boss, and he opened to me the doors of his friendship. I always thought of him, and spoke of him as a father and asked him Dad. He said, "Come to New York Kid and I will see what you get doing," and I was pretty well known in the East at the time.

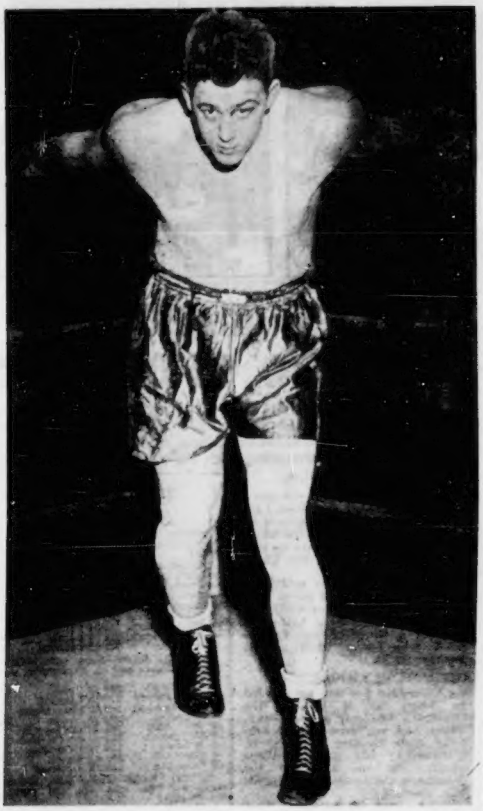
'Golden Voiced' Tenor Star of B. C. Relay Team



"Third time never fails" chirps Al McCoy, who again meets Buddy Knox at the Garden next Friday night.

Zullo, Labbe Meet On McCoy-Knox Card

A return bout between Jerry Zullo, Chelsea, and Kayo Labbe of Lewiston will highlight the supporting card for the Goodwin A. C. boxing show next Friday night at the Garden when Al McCoy clashes with Buddy Knox in the 10-round feature.

Labbe took a slim decision over Zullo two weeks ago at the Garden after a furious six-round fight. The slugfest delighted a crowd of 10,000 and matchmaker Rip Valenti wasted no time in getting this pair together again.

Zullo and Labbe were only too anxious to continue their fistic argument. They have signed for another six-rounder.

Other mixes Friday night will be Jimmy Murphy, Dorchester, vs. Carl Dell, N. Y., who stopped Bobby Allen here recently; Roy Kelley, Brookline, winning consistently of late, vs. Curtis Sheppard, N. Y., and Johnny Lifford, New Brunswick, vs. Young Byron, Roxbury. A fourth will be K. O. Blouin, Lewiston, vs. Bill Shaw, Portland.

McCOY DUE TODAY

McCoy was due in town today to finish off training work for his third joust with Knox. Knox has taken two thin decisions over the N. E. heavy king, their last being the wildest slugfest Boston has seen in years, a savage 10-round ring rodeo in which both cut loose their heaviest artillery all the way.

McCoy is reported to be in excellent condition, the best physical peak he's reached in his career. Three weeks of working as a lumberjack in Orrington, Me., at Hillard's camp have given Al the touch of solidity he's needed, sharpened his speed and put new life into him.

His manager, Bill Brennan, says the new McCoy will not only startle Boston fans by the change in him but likewise win this third meeting with the Dayton, O., white hope by a knyo.

Athletic Night Lures Notables

Sports notables will gather at the Temple Mishkan Tefila meeting house in Roxbury tonight for a gala athletic night sponsored by the Haym-Solomon lodge of the Bnai-Brith.

The film, "First Century of Baseball" will be shown with "Bump" Hadley explaining highlights. Included among the speakers will be Jack Conway, sports editor of the Boston Evening American; Sam Cohen, sports editor of the Daily Record; Joe Cashman, baseball editor of the Daily Record; Murray Kramer, Boston Evening American sports writer; Dave Mishel, camp director and Sam Smith, Y. M. H. A. director and many others.

Louis Seaver is chairman of the committee.

Patty Berg Wins Biltmore Title

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Feb. 5 (INS)—Patty Berg, of Minneapolis, defeated Dorothy Kirby, pretty Atlantan, 3 and 1, in the 36-hole final of the annual Miami Biltmore women's golf tournament here.

The Minneapolis red-head, national women's champion, triumphed because she played steadier golf around the greens.

Beauty hints by Arline Gould, every day in the Boston American.

Cronin To Race in BAA Games

By MURRAY KRAMER

Sporting the golden jersey of Boston College in the relays at the B. A. A. Games next Saturday night will be a "golden voiced" tenor.

Running the third leg for the crack Eagle two-mile team will be a young man listed on the program as John Cronin but known as "Spike" to everybody on the Heights.

Cronin, a senior now, has been a member of the relay team for the last two years and from recent reports, Coach Jack Ryder is on the search for more tenors to strengthen his relay units.

The Arlington boy has been a consistent performer, despite the fact that he has never been able to keep regular training hours due to the demands for his services as a singer.

"Spike" is the oldest of 16 children and as a result has to dig up a few shekels for himself to own a bit of spending money and help defray school expenses.

His means of raising funds has been through singing evenings at clubs, churches and various other functions.

Johnny can chirp to fit the occasion. He can sing popular ditties, light opera, a bit of the "heavy stuff" and what he can do with those good old Irish tunes would be enough to make John McCormack take a second peek.

So, if they turn the "canned" music off during the two mile relay next Saturday night at the B. A. A. Games, listen closely while Cronin is pounding the boards and you may be rewarded with "When Irish Eyes are Smiling."

Entries continue to pour into the Golden Anniversary B. A. A. meet next Saturday night and the affair now shapes up as the greatest indoor set of games ever staged in Boston.

• • •

Boston College's one-mile relay outdid itself in the Millrose games, coming through with a 3:23.8 performance as it defeated Holy Cross and Manhattan.

It was one of the outstanding feats of the New York meet.

The Eagles meet Holy Cross in a match race Saturday at the B. A. A. games, and the fastest time of the night may be looked for.

The team is composed of Charlie Green, John Powers, Bill Gilligan and Art Callan.

• • •

Among those who sent in applications over the week-end were Les MacMitchell, N. Y. U. sensational freshman 1000 yarder Doug Raymond, B. A. A. standout in the 600; Jimmy Herbert, defending champ in the 600, and Les Steers, brilliant West Coast high jumper.

Tuning Up before track practice. Johnny "Spike" Cronin hits a few high notes prior to joining the B. C. track team while his classmates gather around. Harmonizing is out when Cronin starts a solo.

SHADOW, SONNENBERG SEEK SHOT AT CASEY

Challenges bounced off Steve (Crusher) Casey, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, from all sides as both Gus Sonnenberg, ex-title holder, and The Shadow, grappling's man of mystery, both sought chances to win the crown.

Both filed challenges at almost the same hour with Promoter Paul Bowser and both asked that they get the next title event in Boston. Bowser promised to contract Steve today and attempt to arrive at some decision on the matter.

"It looks as if Casey won't be idle around here for a while. Not only have The Shadow and Sonnenberg challenged him, but I also have a few challenges from others. Those go on the shelf for a while, however," said Bowser. "In recent weeks both The Shadow and Sonny have clearly demonstrated that they deserve the first chances at the crown."

The Shadow, who thinks he should get the first wallop at the mighty Crusher bases his claim on the fact that he and the world's champion went to a long, sensational draw a few weeks ago in the Garden. At the end both men were exhausted and neither had the slightest advantage on the other.

Gustavus, probably the mat's most colorful figure with his flying tackle, thinks he should be in there first however.

"The Shadow had his chance and muffed it. I think it's my turn now," Sonny said yesterday. "I've beaten everybody they've put up against me, not only in Boston but all through the East. What else do I have to do to get a title bout?"

GUS SONNENBERG

At any rate, something definite might be done today when Bowser and Casey confer. But in the meanwhile Steve need not worry about future opponents. Either The Shadow or Sonny will accommodate him on any date he names.

Bees' Pitchers Old, Face Slump---Terry

NEW YORK, Feb. 6 (INS)—That ancient feud between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Giants—which in the past has been converted into thousands of dollars at the gate—was flaming anew today after the latest verbal passage between Larry MacPhail and Bill Terry.

It all grew out of the fact that Terry declared, innocently enough, he would be willing to take a gamble on Van Mungo and would give players and cash for the big right hander.

MacPhail promptly announced that he believed Terry has no power to make any deal for the Giants and that if the Giants want to do business with the Doders, they will have to send "somebody besides the office boy."

REDS TEAM TO BEAT

Terry's reaction to this studied insult was that he didn't care to discuss anything "with a screwball."

It is unlikely that Terry's status is as low as MacPhail would have you believe, but, no matter what it may be, it is certain that his judgment of players and teams is unsurpassed, and therefore we are glad to let him outline the prospects for the National League this season.

Here are his views in tabloid:

"The Giants of 1939 potentially will be the most powerful I've ever had, and they are a sure bet to finish one-two.

"The Reds are the team to beat but I don't like their infield outside first base. Their second base combination is none too hot and Riggs at third is erratic.

"The Cubs don't figure to be as strong as last year. I got the better of that deal with them. I'll be stronger at short with Bill Jurges, and they'll be weaker at the same spot with Dick Bartell.

"Lieber?' Who knows about him? I waited for years expecting him to 'hit .350 every year.

"The Pirates don't seem to have strengthened themselves. They are the most likely team to drop out of the first division, and the Cardinals are the most apt to climb, although you can't tell anything about them. The Cards are pretty weak at short.

"The Bees' pitchers are old, and they won't be so good this year. The team has no power, either. Dodgers? A cinch for the second division. Same goes for the Phillies."

Terry firmly believes his Giants will be the most improved team of the year.

He intends to use Hal Schumacher, Carl Hubbell, Cliff Melton and Harry Gumbert as his starters with John Wittig, Bill Lohrman and Manuel Salvo ready to step into a starting berth if any of the others falter.

DUROCHER IN FOR IT

"I don't know how effective Schumacher and Hubbell will be after their arm operations but if either of them stand up for me, we should win the pennant.

"I can't tell how we'll shape up after the training grind but right now I'd like to have my batting order read—Hyatt, Whitehead, Moore, Ott, Bonura, Danning, Demaree, Jurges and the pitcher.

"All I ask of Demaree is that he be able to come in for a ball in center. He doesn't have to be very good with fellows like Ott and Moore beside him."

Someone wanted to know what Terry thought of Leo Durocher's problem as manager of the Dodgers.

"Well," said Terry, "I saw MacPhail with his arm around Durocher the other day and that's the last time anybody will ever see that sight again."

NEWLY FORMED A. A. GRABS SPOTLIGHT

NEW YORK, Feb. 6 (AP)—The newly established firm of Roy Staley, Earle Meadows, Ross Bush and Clark Crane—otherwise known as the Southern California A. A.—has started operations on a hair-thin shoestring with designs on the national track and field championships.

Staley is the senior member of the firm. He won the 60-yard high hurdles in the Millrose games Saturday night and broke the world's record of :7.4 three times. So today he does the talking for his organization.

"It's this way," he said when he finally had settled down. "We all went to Southern California together. Ross is a half-miler, Clark's a sprinter and Earle—well, you know what a pole vaulter he is.

AIM FOR OLYMPICS

"After we got out we decided to keep at it because the Olympics are only a year away. Then, too, we haven't much athletic club running in Southern California; it's mostly college stuff. So we organized the Southern California A. A. Sounds big, doesn't it?

"The four of us came East for the big indoor meets. We were going to make it five, but Delos Thurber, the high jumper, spoiled that. Huh, he got married two days before we left and we couldn't persuade him to come along.

"We're living on the thinnest shoestrings you ever saw. But all the colleges are nice about letting us work out and we have a fine time seeing the sights. What we're really waiting for is the national A. A. U. games. Boy, we'd like to crash through and really score some points in that one.

A LITTLE MIXUP

"It's great seeing all these fellows," Crane confided. "Never thought we'd make it. Gosh, we don't know where we'll be next week. There are three meets, one here at the Seventh Regiment Armory and one in Philadelphia sponsored by the Penn A. C. on Friday, and one in Boston that the Boston A. A. is putting on Saturday. We're still sort of mixed up."

"Well, we'll be in there trying," said Staley. "Hope I can keep it up. I licked the best hurdler in the country last night in Allen Tolmich but I don't think I can keep it up. I'll try, though. Say," he said to the rest of the firm, "don't you think we ought to wire Thurber and have him come along? Gee, we could use those points we'd score in the nationals."

New Florida Race Track Closes Suddenly

3 HARD GAMES AHEAD FOR FLYING BRUINS

The Boston Bruins speeding home from Chicago today after their 3 to 1 victory, head into one of the stiffest tests of their entire season.

Playing Toronto Leafs at the Garden tomorrow night, New York Rangers at New York Thursday and the same Rangers back here in Boston Sunday, Bruins would face these three important games with much more confidence had it not been for the fate which last week sidelined Dit Clapper for three weeks and Flash Hollett for two weeks.

That blow cut the best defense in the National League from five players to three, occasioned the recall of Jack Shewchuk from Providence and created the odd situation of Bruins in one week having such a change of personnel that four players who took part in the 2-2 tie with Americans at the Garden last Tuesday will not be on the ice against the Leafs tomorrow night.

Along with Dit Clapper and Flash Hollett, those two veteran Bruins wingers, Charles Sands and Ray Getliffe, will be missing. Sands and Getliffe were sent down to Hershey last week to make possible the Bruins' desire to try out two young wingers, Terry Reardon and Bob Hamill, both of whom will be playing in the Boston third line with Gordie Pettinger tomorrow night.

Their inclusion along with Jack Shewchuk in the Bruins squad means that seven of the Bruins players against the Leafs will be first-year men, with five of them—Frank Brimsek, Jack Crawford, Shewchuk, Reardon and Hamill—newcomers to the Bruins since training season.

The other new men, Roy Conacher and Mel Hill, came out of the Hershey training camp definitely stamped as regulars and they have played every game this season.

Foxx Honored By N. Y. Scribes

Insisted it who correct that he had "never called one wrong." "To me," he added, "baseball umpiring is not a profession—it's a religion."

But all in all, it was the annual stage production with its accompanying "songs and gags" that laid 'em in the aisles.

PIRATES KNOCKED

National League clubs, individually and collectively, were given a going over, largely for the trend they have shown in picking up old American League players and for the recent kicking around they have suffered at the hands and bats of the Yankees.

"Ford Frick just returned from Europe," one gag went. "He's the first National League president to cross an ocean to escape the Yanks."

One song depicted MacPhail, the Brooklyn "Houdini," as a mastermind with his "pocket full of schemes" to better the Dodgers, strictly from the box office angle.

Terry was a "great man" for trying to build up the Giants' Jersey City farm. Alva Bradley and Oscar Vitt were the Cleveland bosses who were still keeping all hands guessing as to why the Indians "can't win 'em after May."

And, giving the National Leaguers one final send-off, the Pittsburgh collapse in the 1938 pennant chase easily won the championship as the biggest Pirate collapse "since they shot the leg from under Long John Silver."

Tech Crewmen Meet Tonight

M. I. T. varsity candidates report tonight to Coach Cedric Valentine at the Tech bathhouse to start the Engineers off on the long training grind which will culminate in the races with Harvard, Princeton, Syracuse, Cornell, Yale and Rutgers late in the spring.

With a strong nucleus available from last year and prominent sophomores up to varsity ratings after having served their apprenticeship with Pa. Manning's astonishing Tech freshmen boatload of a year ago, the Tech rowing adherents are looking forward to some of the success promised when old Bill Haines relinquished the rowing admiralship at Tech after trying for many years to overcome the handicaps of long class hours and inexperienced material. Dick Ceila, '39, is captain of the Engineers.

Chart Originator Dies in New York

NEW YORK, Feb. 6 (AP)—Patrick J. McKenna, veteran race horse handicapper, died today after an illness of several months. McKenna, a familiar figure around the nation's tracks for half a century, was credited by some with making the first "chart" of a horse race in 1895.

Big Green Tops Eastern Loop

NEW YORK, Feb. 6 (AP)—With a third of the season gone, Dartmouth remains the undefeated leader of the Eastern Intercollegiate League, but during a few minutes of its game with Yale Saturday, the Green's unblemished record came perilously close to being marred.

In the last two seconds of play, a field goal by Captain Moose Dudis gave the Indians a 34-32 win over the Blue and enabled them to run their string to four straight league triumphs.

M'Kechnie Sitting Pretty

NEW YORK, Feb. 6 (AP)—Satisfied with the organization he now has running his Cincinnati baseball club, President Powel Crosley, Jr., is taking no chances of it being broken up.

He signed Manager Bill McKechnie last night to a new two-year contract extending through the 1941 season. The veteran pilot, who came to the Reds from the Boston Bees a year ago, already was under contract for 1939.

This action followed within a few weeks Crosley's similar strategy in extending the contract of Warren Giles as vice president and general manager.

McKechnie will continue to receive a salary of $25,000 under his new agreement with provisions for a bonus of $5000 each year that the attendance equals the 450,000 mark set in 1937.

Gold Stream Flow Fails Gulfstream

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Feb. 6 (AP)—Gulfstream Park, new race track which opened Feb. 1, announced its meeting was being cancelled, effective today.

The announcement was made by John F. Letendre, managing director, in the racing secretary's office after a conference with Joel Hurt, vice-president of the Hollywood Jockey Club.

"Gentlemen, I have bad news for you," Letendre said to those present. "The meeting is off. That's all the information I have."

HORNING BREAKS DOWN

John C. Horning, 28-year-old head of the enterprise, was reported to have broken down at news of the development. He went into Miami to confer with attorneys.

It was understood financial difficulties brought about the cancellation of the meeting, scheduled to run 40 days.

Horning, scion of a wealthy Pennsylvania steel family, financed a large part of the construction of the track, which cost $1,400,000, and it was reported associates were to have furnished the money for operations but the plans failed to work out.

The Florida securities commission Friday rejected an application from the track to qualify $1,000,000 worth of certificates for participation in revenues for public sale, holding the financing appeared to be unsound.

CLOSING SURPRISES

Cancellation of the meeting took horsemen by surprise. A full program of eight races had been scheduled for today, and the entries were out for tomorrow's card.

The Gulfstream track, third in the Miami area, has been in difficulties since it first was projected in 1937.

Joseph M. Smoot, the original promoter, was unable to go through with the project, and it was taken over by Horning, a Miami Beach contractor, who had done some of the preliminary construction work last year.

Jo-Jo White Balks At Seattle Job

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 6 (INS)—Jo Jo White, Detroit Tiger outfielder traded to the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast League, probably will be among those absent at the opening of the season, it was reported today.

His feelings bruised and pride outraged because he was sent to the minors by the Tigers as a part of their purchase price for Freddie Hutchinson, the sensational boy pitcher, White has indicated he will be very hard to deal with, Seattle club attaches said.

N. U. FACES BROWN

Coach Herb Gallagher's Northeastern hockey squadron will battle Brown on the Arena ice tomorrow night. The session will mark the first of a home-and-home series for the two clubs.

Staley Outstanding Athlete at Millrose

NEW YORK, Feb. 6 (INS)—Roy Staley, California hurdle ace, today was established as the outstanding star in the Millrose games, Saturday night, and as such will have his name inscribed on the Rodman Wanamaker international trophy.

Running indoors for the first time, Staley earned his place beside Glenn Cunningham, Paavo Nurmi, Chuck Hornbostel, Charlie Hoff and other stars of the past by smashing the world record in the 60-yard timber topping event three times in a row.

He took his preliminary heat, his semi-final heat and scored his triumph in the final in identical time—7.3 seconds. The previous world mark was a tenth slower.

THREE NEW ENTRIES IN RELAY CARNIVAL

Filling out the field of special events for the fourth annual Eastern Seaboard Relay Carnival, the Schoolboy Writers' Committee finds but eight vacancies to be filled to complete the list of champions to compete in the feature runnings at the Garden Saturday afternoon.

With close to 50 schools entered in the relays, the program should be one of the best of the indoor season supplemented, as it is, with five invitation matchings.

Three new entries prepared to add final touches to their specialties this week, having received their requests to participate . . . Dick Francis, Boston English flier, will represent the Blue and Blue in the hurdles with Russ Lisle, former Lowell high school star now attending Huntington, also added to the list of timber toppers. Two more vacancies are still under consideration.

BATTEY TO COMPETE

Francis Battey, Cranston, R. I. will take his place at the start of the 600-yard run leaving but one slot open at this distance. Battey won the Class C 880 last year in the Harvard Interscholastics and should force the going all the way in this run this season.

Two more entries have still to be placed in the dash to compete with Bill Wood, Worcester academy lad, who captured this event last season, running for Lowell high; Joe Concannon, Boston English; John Grigas, Chelsea, and Lloyd Goldsmith, Malden, first, second and third respectively in the Northeastern meet.

Howie Caldwell, Brockton; Bill Simon, Brighton, first and second in the Huskies' affair, and Charlie Reeves, Browne and Nichols, will have two more competitors making up the field in the 300-yarder.

The 1000-yard, already boasting the classy field of Dave Blair, Medford; Jim Griffin, Dorchester, and Dan Doherty, St. John's high, has three holes to bottle up and the committee hopes to fill in this long distance before Thursday.

Baer Tough Test For Young Nova

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—When Lou Nova faces big Max Baer in one of the ball parks May 25, the Alameda giant's standing in the race to get a title shot at Joe Lewis will be pretty well established.

Baer may not be one-half the fighter that he was when he made his weird effort against the Bomber and Nova may defeat Max with little or no trouble. Nova, for one thing, will be in about as perfect condition as an athlete can be.
